

My name is Sofía Castañeda, im 20 years old, from Mexico City. I was raised by my grandmother, an amazing person, and someone who I truly admire. She taught me many important things, but I think that one of the most valuable things I learned from her was to dream and work to make those dreams real, believe that there is nothing impossible, because life is full of mysteries and unexplainable things. Things that we didn't even think or dream about.

I don't have any specific dreams. Id like to keep learning as much as I can, I want to live things that I didn't dreamed about, things so great that I couldn't think about them. I want to get amazed.

Sincerely, Sofia Castañeda
